Do

“ Error Messages ”

A form layout within a purple rounded rectangle. It contains several light gray input fields. The first field has a red border. Below it are two more gray fields. Then another field with a red border, followed by another with a red border. Below these are two more gray fields. Then a solid blue button. At the bottom are three horizontal red lines, representing error messages placed at the bottom of the form.

Don't

A form layout within a purple rounded rectangle, identical to the one on the left. It contains several light gray input fields. The first field has a red border. Below it are two more gray fields. Then another field with a red border, followed by another with a red border. Below these are two more gray fields. Then a solid blue button. At the bottom are three horizontal red lines, representing error messages placed at the bottom of the form.
